

Abide in the Wind Dorton

Chapter 108

Translator - Arcturion

Editor - Hyskel

Proofreader/QC - KanaJuki

GLANCE -

Abide in the Wind

Episode 7 • Dorton

Story • Art

Shin Weol

1070 Kingdom Year,
October 25.

The Empire's advancement is being hindered because the emirate fail to accept the power the Kingdom possesses.

The available literature is already of a low calibre, so the complete lack of funding and respect for academic pursuits only decreases the Empire's reputation.

Nevertheless, people who pursue such things
as riches and reputation hinder academia.

They cannot be bothered to preserve accurate records and thus reduces the efficiency of study, which can only be obtained through a coherent documentation.

Detailed experimentation –
that is how I strengthen this nation.

Daladeu
Continent in Dorton;
Temp. 8° Centigrade,
relative humidity 40%.

Day 284 of the Black Eye Synthesis experiment.

Environment surrounding the sample remains constant. An adjusted environment should be cultivated for another sample.

Samples 10 and 14 resulted in necrosis and were terminated.

Light modulated at 175x in emulation of the canyon's luminance.

It would be preferential to have accurate environmental data to better simulate the forest's climate.

The species native to the forest are divergent from those in the valley; they require different treatment.

Milk

a white liquid that is the cause of indigestion in some humans; it may also cause hypersensitivity and evoke reactions such as rashes and dermatitis.

I am one of the few who suffer the latter reaction, though it only affects a small number of children and even fewer adults, so many tests didn't have me as a subject.

It's been more than a dozen years since I've drunk milk and those who work in this lab are well aware of it.

Which would conclude that this was placed here by the only other person with access to the lab.

Riana Forte,

Physically, sharing the same parents means our genetic makeup is similar.

Socially, her relation to me is indicated as "younger sister."

I haven't seen her since our parent's divorce twelve years ago. When I met her again, official documents have recorded her as deceased.

Now, she bears the restraining necklace of a slave and has become a subject for experimentation.

Because she was born a free person it's possible that she could earn her liberation through trials.

There was a reason she was made to look like a slave, but if that condition is no longer necessary, she won't need to be enslaved anymore.

They make cheese
in this kitchen.

If she wants to be liberated,
conditions must be fulfilled

I warmed the milk
so you can drink it;
I know this is how
you prefer it.

If a child does not show any sign of refusing to drink milk and continues to drink milk without questioning why,

is that the same as confirming the child
likes to drink it?

This is the leftover
from making cheese;
the nutritional content
has been removed, leaving a watery, white liquid

Yet, despite alterations to its contents, because it remains the same colour it is still called "milk."

Twelve years ago,
she ventured to a farm
in search of this milk,
knowing I could drink it,

and became ill,
having walked in the rain

Having already become unstable in their relationship, my parents divorced shortly after.

They claimed they had things to accomplish
but were being delayed
because of their children

Hair like her mother's.
Eyes like her father's.

Kindness
without expectation of reciprocation.

An unchanging temperament,
regardless of the situation.

Mother

ventured to the Old Continent.

She's involved in a project to create a vehicle for air transportation

with a goal of enhanced defense and speed.

They embarked on a test run and if they return soon,

you might be able to meet her.

Two northern plain
wolves up ahead!

Unger and Pina - engage

Even, you're a chicken so step aside

Sure.

Keep quiet,
we don't want to alert
the whole pack

Pina?

Dark...
That human...
Shadow...

GROWL

GROWL

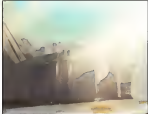

RRK

GROWL

DEAN IT!

ATA

According to Article 10, Clause 2 of the Kingdom Slavery Law, even slaves without owners are required to be registered and managed.

Your behaviour is contrary to Article 9 of the Constitutional Law.

In Earthside, even the royal family cannot threaten free citizens.

Put your gun away.

Curse you...

If it is authorization that is required,

well, I will do what I must.

Even!

Why is Marquis Even Richard here?

Didn't he go to the plains?

More importantly,

he has the authority to make immediate jurisdictions...

Bring me a pen and paper.

THEY'RE ESCAPING!

Dorton is under martial law - a specialized emergency arrangement for the front line - what the lord decrees is law.

I was hoping to buy time with my that woman's skull will against herself, but I failed.

SHOOT THEM!

Prince Rollant ranks higher than Dorton's lord and even Richard.

Appealing to him will be the most efficient course of action.

CLACK

Until then, we have to return to where the control covert remains influential.

It's illegal, even for the royal family, to endorse someone if they have a relative who is a free citizen.

Therefore, it won't be difficult to prove you're an illegal slave.

I SAID, SHOOT!

Abide in the Wind

novels · · · · · poems

novels · · · · · poems

Author Kim Y Books Ee

cafe <http://cafe.naver.com/abideinwind/ln>

blog <http://blog.naver.com/buchdol>

And...
And...
And...

Chapter 129